

Other Comments:

I can see the day where consumer-level products will be at what is today considered "HDTV" levels -- why allow Hollywood interests to dictate hardware standards? As I understand MB Docket No. 02-230, it stinks -- something is definitely fishy and suspect about the proposal.